Operator agrees that American Midstream Customer may cancel the Agency Agreement by notifying Operator pursuant to the procedure set out in the Agency Agreement. 5. If an American Midstream Customer is able to access any information on American Midstream for which it is not authorized, i.e., another party's information, American Midstream Customer shall notify Operator's Customer Services Department immediately and American Midstream Customer agrees not to disclose or otherwise make available such information to any other company, corporation or third party. 9. American Midstream Customer understands and agrees that Operator may act, and shall be fully protected in acting, in reliance upon any acts or things done or performed by persons utilizing American Midstream Customer's USER IDs and passwords on behalf of American Midstream Customer (so long as Operator is not aware of a security breach), and that Operator shall be held harmless from any omission or failure by American Midstream Customer to act or perform any duty required by a function accessed through American Midstream.
10. USER ID that is inactive for 180 days is automatically suspended. If American Midstream Customer's USER ID is suspended American Midstream Customer may contact Operator's Customer Services Department to have its USER ID reinstated.
11. Operator reserves the right to invalidate American Midstream Customer's USER IDs and passwords at any time upon forty-eight (48) hours' written notice in the event (a) American Midstream Customer breaches any of the terms of this agreement, such breach threatens the integrity of the AMID's operations, security or information, and American Midstream Customer fails to cure such breach within twenty-four (24) hours after written notice by Operator of such breach, or (b) Operator terminates the American Midstream computer system
